

2026 ASSISTED LIVING, CONTINUING & RESIDENTIAL CARE and SKILLED NURSING

ASSISTED LIVING: a combination of housing supportive services and personalized assistance designed to respond to individual resident needs. Some communities offer both independent and assisted living apartments, while others are designed primarily for people who need assisted living services. Some provide special, secured units for residents with dementia, while other serve only those residents. Services include a secure environment, meals, housekeeping, laundry, maintenance, transportation, social and recreational programs, an emergency call system and health care services; including a registered nurse on site or on call 24 hours per day, 7 days per week and personal care services (assistance with bathing, dressing, grooming, etc.) provided by certified nurse’s aides or home health aides. Aide services may be offered in a variety of ways with associated costs. FOR MORE INFORMATION: go online to ctassistedliving.com/

CONTINUING CARE COMMUNITIES: offer lifetime living accommodations, a wide variety of services, including a specified package of long-term health and nursing services for older adults. People usually enter these living arrangements while living independently, but are cared for at every level of care as they age. These living arrangements usually require a contract and a substantial monetary investment.
